

PETERSBURG.

REVENUE COLLECTORS—HEAVY AMOUNT IN BONDS FALLING DUE—FREE MUSIC FOR THE CITY—HUNTING COUNTRY—PERMITTING THE CITY FOUNDED—CITY OF LAW DECIDED—MUNICIPAL STATISTICS—PERSONAL.

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

JULY 31, 1880.

The internal-revenue receipts in the Petersburg district for the month ending today amounted to $83,255.36. The exports of manufactured tobacco from this city for the month are not obtainable in time for this issue, but are reported to be in excess of several months past.

Bonds of the city to the amount of $150,000, with accrued interest, fall due on Monday. The money to pay the entire amount is and has for some months past been in the treasury, and the bonds and interest will be paid as rapidly as the demand is made for them. Under the announcement of the treasurer, made some weeks ago, of the readiness of the city at any time to pay these bonds, only $19,000 have been presented. The great majority of the holders doubtless prefer to draw the interest to the above, $26,000 in interest on the Southside Railroad bonds of the city will fall due on Monday, which the treasurer is prepared to meet. The promptness with which the city meets, and has always met, its obligations has established for it a high credit, of which any city might be proud.

Fully 1,500 people assembled on the lawn last night to enjoy the open-air concert given by the Artillery Band with their new instruments. A large portion of the audience was colored. It is proposed, in order to give the public the benefit of the music, to have a handsome stand near the central portion of the park for the accommodation of the band.

In the Hustings Court this morning the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty in the case of S. W. Venable & Co., indicted for contributing to the creation of a nuisance on the street by the street-drains, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

The jury, under the direction of the court, tried to run by the gutter of the street, which they tried to run by the gutter of the street. The alleged nuisance exists some distance away from the factory in a portion of the street which is very imperfectly drained, and where the water, for want of drainage, seeks into and stagnates upon the street.

THE LATEST NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE DISPATCH.

BRANSCOM, THE JACKSONVILLE (FLA.) BOY—MURDERER—INQUIRED AFTER BY MAJOR POW—TERRIBLE MORTALITY RELATED FROM STARVATION—SARATOGA RACES—FIRE IN NEW ORLEANS—MARRIAGE OF MRS. SEGUN, THE PRIMA DONNA—VIRGINIA EXHIBITORS AT THE AUSTRALIAN EXPOSITION—RACING NOTES—CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS—WHOLESALE ARREST OF ALLEGED MURDERERS IN GEORGIA: MILITARY CALLED INTO TO PREVENT THEIR RESCUE—DR. TANNER WEAKER AND RESTLESS: HIS THIRTY-SIXTH DAY BEGUN—DEATH OF AN ARCH-BISHOP—AFFAIRS IN AFGHANISTAN—DESTRUCTIVE STORMS—THE RELATIONS BETWEEN BELGIUM AND THE VATICAN, &c.

SPOTSYLVANIA.

KILLED BY A HORSE—KICK—NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH—PREVENTION OF FEVER AND MEASLES—THUMB CUT OFF—DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN CITY OF LOUISIANA—WHEAT CROP PROSPECT—NEGRO CUTTING SCRAPE.

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

JULY 31, 1880.

A few weeks since Mr. Eli Jones was killed on the leg by a horse and the bone fractured; but being a very energetic man he continued to attend to business without calling in a doctor, until he began to suffer from the fever. Gangrene had then set in, and he died in great agony, after lingering for about ten days. He was a good citizen, and his funeral was largely attended.

A negro boy had his scalp split open by a circular saw at Halladay's mill the other day. It was promptly sewed up and is now nearly well.

Sickness is very prevalent in this section now. Typhoid-fever is raging, and there have been quite a number of deaths. Measles is also prevailing to a great extent, and several persons have died—most of them negroes. Both diseases are now thought to be the work of the weather.

While riding in moving a threshing-machine, Mr. James R. Hillman had his left thumb mashed nearly off by the machine yesterday. It is a very painful wound.

Yesterday while driving up some cattle Mr. N. A. Ware met with an accident which will probably result in death. It appears that the horse, which was being driven, tried to run by him and butted against a fence rail, which struck Mr. Ware in the breast or stomach, knocking him down. He did not feel much hurt at first—only jarred—but presently he began to suffer much pain and finally great agony. Three doctors were called, but they could do nothing for him, and he died last night.

The wheat crop has been almost all threshed out, and is a small yield and of poor quality. The corn is very fine, and if the season continues favorable as hitherto a large crop will be made.

Accident to James S. Redd, Esq. (Danville Post.)

The mail-carrier from Martinsville to this city Friday morning, August 1st, was driven by a horse attached to a buggy in which Hon. James S. Redd, Democratic elector for this district, and Mr. George Reamy, son of Dr. Reamy, of Henry, were riding, became frightened and ran off near Irisburg, throwing Mr. Redd out, and very painfully bruising him about the chest and head, and knocking out several of his front teeth. His injuries were reported to be, although severe and painful, not dangerous. Mr. Reamy escaped unhurt.

The accident to Mr. Redd is particularly to be regretted at this juncture, as it may probably materially interfere with his campaign for Governor of the State, and in this capacity his efforts already made have shown him to be a valiant and efficient champion.

MOVEMENTS OF ARCHBISHOP GIBBONS AND PARTY.—(Baltimore Star.)—Archbishop Gibbons, with his suite, arrived in Baltimore yesterday morning. He will remain here until the 24th of August, when he will leave for Rome, and will return to this country in the steamship City of Chester, which leaves Liverpool August 24th. They will therefore reach Baltimore early in September. The Archbishop is now in London, and is expected to visit Paris, Brussels, Mayence, Antwerp, and Amsterdam, spending several days in June at the last-named city with relatives of Vice-General Janssens, of the Diocese of Richmond, Va. In that city he received a visit from Bishop Kain, of Wheeling, and a letter from Rev. F. O'Connor, who had left home for a visit to the Pope shortly after the Archbishop. While in Rome the Archbishop was admitted to several interviews with Pope Leo, who also received the other members of his party.

HONORABLE ACCIDENT.—(Martinsville Herald.)—Three men were killed last week by a horse and buggy. One of the men, named DREW, was killed by a horse and buggy. The other two men, named DREW, were killed by a horse and buggy.

Only 9 marriages were issued in this city this month—5 to white and 4 to colored couples. The number of deaths recorded was 31.

Rev. Dr. Witherspoon has returned to the city from Cape of Good Hope. At the First Baptist Church to-morrow night, Dr. Eaton will preach a special sermon on the subject of the recent tract entitled "What the Catholics Believe" (distributed by authority of several of the ministers of this city), and the questions growing out of it.

ROBIN ADAMS.

CAROLINE.

A SINGULAR ENDOWMENT.—The State University at Athens, Ga., has received a singular endowment. An eccentric gentleman—non-resident and not an alumnus—bestowed by deed the sum of $7,000 on the University, coupling the gift with the condition that the fund should be invested for and during the lives of twenty-one persons, all children, whose names are given in the deed, the interest to be compounded annually till the last one dies, and twenty-one years and nine months thereafter. It is calculated that the gift will not be available for about ninety-six years, at which time the fund will amount to some $1,700,000.

POISONED BY EATING BLUE-CHERRIES.—(Tide-water Index.)—Two children of Captain Hubbard, of Tappanahock, were poisoned last Sunday evening by eating wild-cherry. Dr. William G. Jeffries was called in, and administered the proper remedies. The younger, a boy, was least affected by the poison. The girl, about twelve years old, was not considered out of danger by the attending physician Monday morning.

A correspondent of the Providence Journal, who visited Dr. J. C. Dwyer, a physician in New York City, gives the following account of his appearance: "He does not look like a doctor, nor like a cadaverous man, nor like a man whom we meet every day. Indeed, he does not look like anything as a man, but like a fresh and pink as a girl's, and his whole face has the color and look of health."

Samuel H. Stone, of Madison county, Ky., and his brother James C., of Leavenworth, Kansas, Thursday afternoon purchased the entire short-horn herd of Colonel W. E. Simms, of Bourbon county. The herd is a very valuable one, composed of the Bates families, principally Rose, Sharons, and Duchesses. It cost $80,000, and is said to be the finest short-horn herd in the country.

A resolution was unanimously passed approving the course of General Beale in the present Congress.

Steps were taken to organize the Democratic party and get out the vote at the coming election, and good work will no doubt be done. The Republicans have been in the city for some time, and are well known. The Democrats are also well known, and are expected to do well.

The Democratic party, composed of Re-adjusters and Debt-Payers, had a political meeting yesterday in the court-house. Delegates were appointed to the Tappanahock convention to be held on the 20th of August.

A resolution was unanimously passed approving the course of General Beale in the present Congress.

Steps were taken to organize the Democratic party and get out the vote at the coming election, and good work will no doubt be done. The Republicans have been in the city for some time, and are well known. The Democrats are also well known, and are expected to do well.

The Democratic party, composed of Re-adjusters and Debt-Payers, had a political meeting yesterday in the court-house. Delegates were appointed to the Tappanahock convention to be held on the 20th of August.

A resolution was unanimously passed approving the course of General Beale in the present Congress.

Steps were taken to organize the Democratic party and get out the vote at the coming election, and good work will no doubt be done. The Republicans have been in the city for some time, and are well known. The Democrats are also well known, and are expected to do well.

The Democratic party, composed of Re-adjusters and Debt-Payers, had a political meeting yesterday in the court-house. Delegates were appointed to the Tappanahock convention to be held on the 20th of August.

THE LATEST NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE DISPATCH.

BRANSCOM, THE JACKSONVILLE (FLA.) BOY—MURDERER—INQUIRED AFTER BY MAJOR POW—TERRIBLE MORTALITY RELATED FROM STARVATION—SARATOGA RACES—FIRE IN NEW ORLEANS—MARRIAGE OF MRS. SEGUN, THE PRIMA DONNA—VIRGINIA EXHIBITORS AT THE AUSTRALIAN EXPOSITION—RACING NOTES—CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS—WHOLESALE ARREST OF ALLEGED MURDERERS IN GEORGIA: MILITARY CALLED INTO TO PREVENT THEIR RESCUE—DR. TANNER WEAKER AND RESTLESS: HIS THIRTY-SIXTH DAY BEGUN—DEATH OF AN ARCH-BISHOP—AFFAIRS IN AFGHANISTAN—DESTRUCTIVE STORMS—THE RELATIONS BETWEEN BELGIUM AND THE VATICAN, &c.

SPOTSYLVANIA.

KILLED BY A HORSE—KICK—NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH—PREVENTION OF FEVER AND MEASLES—THUMB CUT OFF—DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN CITY OF LOUISIANA—WHEAT CROP PROSPECT—NEGRO CUTTING SCRAPE.

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

JULY 31, 1880.

A few weeks since Mr. Eli Jones was killed on the leg by a horse and the bone fractured; but being a very energetic man he continued to attend to business without calling in a doctor, until he began to suffer from the fever. Gangrene had then set in, and he died in great agony, after lingering for about ten days. He was a good citizen, and his funeral was largely attended.

A negro boy had his scalp split open by a circular saw at Halladay's mill the other day. It was promptly sewed up and is now nearly well.

Sickness is very prevalent in this section now. Typhoid-fever is raging, and there have been quite a number of deaths. Measles is also prevailing to a great extent, and several persons have died—most of them negroes. Both diseases are now thought to be the work of the weather.

While riding in moving a threshing-machine, Mr. James R. Hillman had his left thumb mashed nearly off by the machine yesterday. It is a very painful wound.

Yesterday while driving up some cattle Mr. N. A. Ware met with an accident which will probably result in death. It appears that the horse, which was being driven, tried to run by him and butted against a fence rail, which struck Mr. Ware in the breast or stomach, knocking him down. He did not feel much hurt at first—only jarred—but presently he began to suffer much pain and finally great agony. Three doctors were called, but they could do nothing for him, and he died last night.

The wheat crop has been almost all threshed out, and is a small yield and of poor quality. The corn is very fine, and if the season continues favorable as hitherto a large crop will be made.

Accident to James S. Redd, Esq. (Danville Post.)

The mail-carrier from Martinsville to this city Friday morning, August 1st, was driven by a horse attached to a buggy in which Hon. James S. Redd, Democratic elector for this district, and Mr. George Reamy, son of Dr. Reamy, of Henry, were riding, became frightened and ran off near Irisburg, throwing Mr. Redd out, and very painfully bruising him about the chest and head, and knocking out several of his front teeth. His injuries were reported to be, although severe and painful, not dangerous. Mr. Reamy escaped unhurt.

The accident to Mr. Redd is particularly to be regretted at this juncture, as it may probably materially interfere with his campaign for Governor of the State, and in this capacity his efforts already made have shown him to be a valiant and efficient champion.

MOVEMENTS OF ARCHBISHOP GIBBONS AND PARTY.—(Baltimore Star.)—Archbishop Gibbons, with his suite, arrived in Baltimore yesterday morning. He will remain here until the 24th of August, when he will leave for Rome, and will return to this country in the steamship City of Chester, which leaves Liverpool August 24th. They will therefore reach Baltimore early in September. The Archbishop is now in London, and is expected to visit Paris, Brussels, Mayence, Antwerp, and Amsterdam, spending several days in June at the last-named city with relatives of Vice-General Janssens, of the Diocese of Richmond, Va. In that city he received a visit from Bishop Kain, of Wheeling, and a letter from Rev. F. O'Connor, who had left home for a visit to the Pope shortly after the Archbishop. While in Rome the Archbishop was admitted to several interviews with Pope Leo, who also received the other members of his party.

HONORABLE ACCIDENT.—(Martinsville Herald.)—Three men were killed last week by a horse and buggy. One of the men, named DREW, was killed by a horse and buggy. The other two men, named DREW, were killed by a horse and buggy.

Only 9 marriages were issued in this city this month—5 to white and 4 to colored couples. The number of deaths recorded was 31.

Rev. Dr. Witherspoon has returned to the city from Cape of Good Hope. At the First Baptist Church to-morrow night, Dr. Eaton will preach a special sermon on the subject of the recent tract entitled "What the Catholics Believe" (distributed by authority of several of the ministers of this city), and the questions growing out of it.

ROBIN ADAMS.

CAROLINE.

A SINGULAR ENDOWMENT.—The State University at Athens, Ga., has received a singular endowment. An eccentric gentleman—non-resident and not an alumnus—bestowed by deed the sum of $7,000 on the University, coupling the gift with the condition that the fund should be invested for and during the lives of twenty-one persons, all children, whose names are given in the deed, the interest to be compounded annually till the last one dies, and twenty-one years and nine months thereafter. It is calculated that the gift will not be available for about ninety-six years, at which time the fund will amount to some $1,700,000.

POISONED BY EATING BLUE-CHERRIES.—(Tide-water Index.)—Two children of Captain Hubbard, of Tappanahock, were poisoned last Sunday evening by eating wild-cherry. Dr. William G. Jeffries was called in, and administered the proper remedies. The younger, a boy, was least affected by the poison. The girl, about twelve years old, was not considered out of danger by the attending physician Monday morning.

A correspondent of the Providence Journal, who visited Dr. J. C. Dwyer, a physician in New York City, gives the following account of his appearance: "He does not look like a doctor, nor like a cadaverous man, nor like a man whom we meet every day. Indeed, he does not look like anything as a man, but like a fresh and pink as a girl's, and his whole face has the color and look of health."

Samuel H. Stone, of Madison county, Ky., and his brother James C., of Leavenworth, Kansas, Thursday afternoon purchased the entire short-horn herd of Colonel W. E. Simms, of Bourbon county. The herd is a very valuable one, composed of the Bates families, principally Rose, Sharons, and Duchesses. It cost $80,000, and is said to be the finest short-horn herd in the country.

A resolution was unanimously passed approving the course of General Beale in the present Congress.

Steps were taken to organize the Democratic party and get out the vote at the coming election, and good work will no doubt be done. The Republicans have been in the city for some time, and are well known. The Democrats are also well known, and are expected to do well.

The Democratic party, composed of Re-adjusters and Debt-Payers, had a political meeting yesterday in the court-house. Delegates were appointed to the Tappanahock convention to be held on the 20th of August.

A resolution was unanimously passed approving the course of General Beale in the present Congress.

Steps were taken to organize the Democratic party and get out the vote at the coming election, and good work will no doubt be done. The Republicans have been in the city for some time, and are well known. The Democrats are also well known, and are expected to do well.

The Democratic party, composed of Re-adjusters and Debt-Payers, had a political meeting yesterday in the court-house. Delegates were appointed to the Tappanahock convention to be held on the 20th of August.

A resolution was unanimously passed approving the course of General Beale in the present Congress.

Steps were taken to organize the Democratic party and get out the vote at the coming election, and good work will no doubt be done. The Republicans have been in the city for some time, and are well known. The Democrats are also well known, and are expected to do well.

The Democratic party, composed of Re-adjusters and Debt-Payers, had a political meeting yesterday in the court-house. Delegates were appointed to the Tappanahock convention to be held on the 20th of August.

DR. TANNER'S RESOLVE.

The Pastor Determined to Complete his Task at all Hazards.

IN GOOD CONDITION—CHILLING THE WATCH-DOG BY INSISTING ON OPEN DOORS AND WINDOWS.

New York, July 31.—Contrary to the expectations of many, Dr. Tanner's extraordinary resolve to complete his task at all hazards, while apparently growing weaker, was sufficiently strong to express his indignation at a report which had been pretty extensively circulated that he might be obliged to succumb to the demands of an overtaxed nature. He sought his cot in the south gallery of the Grand Hall at ten minutes to 10 o'clock on Thursday night and slept soundly for an hour and five minutes with his face turned toward the moon. Although resting under two doubled blankets he asked for more clothing, and the rubber-plum-cover, so frequently used on former occasions, was thrown over the cot. Dr. Tanner was restless for nearly a quarter of an hour and complaining of the want of air he shifted his quarters at five minutes after 11 o'clock and went to sleep on the cot down in the hall, which is generally used in the daytime. He then dropped into a feeble slumber, and did not awake until ten minutes to 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: "Oh, not too cold for me; I'm not cold," rejoined the staid, and up went the window. At 5 o'clock he sat up in his hammock and the attendants gathered round him. "Well, boys," said the tough old man, in the course of some badinage, "I feel better this morning. I've had some sleep, and I feel better." The feverishness, however, the face which was noticeable on Thursday was absent, but the lack-lustre eye made his condition unmistakable. It was not till twenty-five minutes past 6 that he rose and mounted to his seventh heaven in the south gallery.

His favorite beverage, a glass of cold water, was brought him by a servant. Dr. Tanner, who was in bed, said: